

North American Communications - Eagan, MN

This 45,000 square foot single-story communication system sales office and support facility serves as national headquarters for North American Communications, a Lucent Technologies company. This structure consists of a structural steel frame with masonry exterior walls and an EPDM roof system.

